Project description

Bahrain's largest IWPC obtained the opinion of an independent expert, as a result of certain disputed contractual and technical matters. Handling such disputes as per contractual requirements means to raise the matter to the next stage.

We were assigned by the IWPC to support resolving the disputes by assisting the court on technical matters. Our expert opinion included specialist engineering knowledge covering gas turbine expertise with a focus on fuel switching options and reverse osmosis systems with a focus on hydraulic system redundancy. In addition, we provided professional services such as on-site investigations, review of documentary evidence, report preparation and giving oral evidence in the arbitration tribunal.
